

With skis, a sled, and a tent...

On January 9th, 2021, I left Reykjavík, in the southwest of Iceland, and on February 25th, after travelling six hundred kilometers in complete autonomy, I reached the far north of the country, at the edge of the Arctic Circle.

The exhibition titled Face au froid recounts the days - and the cold, solitary nights - spent in the tent.

Sharing this adventure with all of you represents, for me, the opportunity to complete it in the best possible way...
